New South Wales Health Minister, John Della Bosca, says the dialysis unit needed expanding because of an increase in the number of people being treated locally.

Leanne Shamroze Barber says she has been lobbying for funding since last year, after her father was forced to move to Adelaide for treatment.

"As a daughter of a father who lives away it's wonderful news," she said.

"It's wonderful news for Broken Hill, because this will alleviate people having to go away and go through the upsetting things that have happened to me and my family in Broken Hill."
